of Internal Medicine

10TH EDITION
8-10 MAY 2025
KRAKÓW, POLAND

Ten Years of MIRCIM: Special Invitation for Medical Students to Join the Jubilee Celebration in Kraków, Poland

From May 8 to 10, 2025, Kraków will host the 10th anniversary edition of the McMaster International Review Conference of Internal Medicine (MIRCIM)—a world-class educational and scientific event for medical professionals and students alike.

Why should medical students attend MIRCIM 2025?

MIRCIM is a perfect opportunity for students to enhance their medical education, learn from world-renowned experts, and connect with peers and mentors from over 70 countries. This hybrid-format conference (on-site in Kraków and online) features:

- 11 sessions with over 60 lectures by leading researchers, clinicians, and educators
- A focus on essential updates in internal medicine and medical education
- Opening lecture by Professor Gordon Guyatt from McMaster University (Canada), author of the term “evidence-based medicine” (EBM)
- Special session dedicated to artificial intelligence (AI) in medicine
- Young Talents in Internal Medicine World Contest 2025, showcasing the best clinical case reports by young internists from around the globe

MIRCIM is organized by the Polish Institute for Evidence Based Medicine (PIEBM), Poland, and McMaster University, Canada, in collaboration with the International Society of Internal Medicine (ISIM), European Federation of Internal Medicine (EFIM), and Jagiellonian University Medical College, and in partnership with over 40 national societies of internal medicine from around the world.
